HE DIDN'T SAY IT

MR. BATES DENIES HE HAD ADVISED COMPANIES TO RESUME.

BARKER SURE OF BATES

Attorney General Thinks Bates Will So Advise Companies—Will Push Prosecutions if They Don't Return.

Thomas Bates, in Chicago Friday, attorney for the fire insurance companies in the litigation growing out of their suspension of business in Missouri because of the enactment of the Orr law, denied absolutely the report telegraphed from Jefferson City that he had advised the companies to resume business in the state. Mr. Bates said, on the contrary, he had flatly refused to sign an agreement to that effect which was urged upon him, and answered all the various propositions made to him with the statement that he was there mostly to represent the insurance companies in the litigation and had no authority even to consider any proposition leading to their return to the state.

Insurance agents were hopeful yesterday morning that the situation was cleared up and that business soon would be resumed by the companies.

Attorney General Barker at Jefferson City gave out the following statement in reply to Judge Bates:

"I do not understand from his article that he will not instruct the companies to resume business, but rather that he did not agree so to do. I made Judge Bates a proposition which I understood that he accepted, and I am expecting the insurance companies to resume business in this state within a few days.

"I am sure that Judge Bates will instruct his companies that in view of my opinion they can safely transact business in this state. If the insurance companies do not return to this state under this agreement, the suits in the supreme court will be rushed and the rights of the people fully protected, as Missouri is not at all at the mercy of the insurance trust."

DRAGGING THE ROADS.

Parnell and Burlington Junction Farmers Believe in Using the Drag.

The following is from this week's Parnell Sentinel:

"The following farmers came into town Thursday morning with road drags: Wallace Kennedy, G. T. Logan, W. E. Bloomfield and John Hovenkotter. This shows enterprise and they should certainly be commended for their work. It has been proven long ago that nothing is better to keep the roads in condition than a road drag. They also dragged the road from town to the cemetery."

Here is what this week's Burlington Junction Post had to say about the farmers dragging the roads in that community:

"Ten big horses and three drags were an unusual sight on Main street Wednesday morning. Result—the road was in fine condition when the farmers had finished their work. Allie Trooper, Holmes Yates and W. P. Nicholas were out early Wednesday morning with their drags, working their roads down in fine shape and they decided that what was worth doing at all was worth doing well, so they just headed their teams towards town and put a finishing touch to their morning's labor by marching right down Main street with their drags. That's the right spirit, boys. Drag, brother, drag."

Robert G. Sanders is working in the postoffice this week getting onto the work. Mr. Sanders is a substitute clerk and is next in line for a clerkship in that office. Charles Moore is substitute city carrier and will be next in line for that place. MUST SWAT FLIES

SCREENS FOR NEW GOVERNMENT BUILDING CONDEMNED.

WILL MOVE THIS MONTH

Orders Have Been Received to Occupy New Building—Another Delay in Revolving Door.

When the postoffice is moved this month into the new government building on North Main street, there will be no revolving door at the front entrance to the building and there will be no screens on the windows. All the other work on the building, however, will be done and everything will be in readiness for the postoffice to locate there. Such was the announcement made by J. R. Edwards, superintendent of construction of the building.

The postoffice will move sometime this month, probably during the last week, into the new building. Postmaster Beech has been ordered to move by the postoffice department at Washington.

The revolving door for the front entrance will be put in later. When it was received recently, it was in such shape that a man from the factory will arrive soon to see whether it can be fixed here or whether a new door in necessary. The revolving door for the south side entrance is O. K. and will be put in.

The screens for the windows were received, but they were condemned, so new screens will be ordered. It will probably take some time for them to come.

Just part of the furniture is here, being cases and racks. It is expected that the balance of the furniture will be here in the next few days.

CONTEST IS HELD ILLEGAL.

U. S. Court Fines Company $100—Watching Other Towns Also.

Kansas City, May 8.—It was a fine little scheme of the merchants of Windsor, Mo., down in Henry county, to have a "grand gift drawing contest" on "stock days" there. It always brought the crowds. The stores were jammed with buyers, the square was lined with the horses and wagons of farmers, business was on the jump.

With every purchase made in any store in the town, tickets bearing different numbers, were given the buyers. These tickets were placed in a big barrel. At evening the drawing was held. The holders of the lucky numbers took away with them either a twenty dollar gold piece, a suit of clothes or a pair of shoes.

But Judge Van Valkenburgh smashed the fine little scheme into fine little bits this morning in the United States district court when he fined the Livingston Trading company of Windsor $100 for promoting the gift drawing. It had pleaded guilty to the charge of conducting a lottery against government laws.

"I realize no harm was meant, it was conducted in ignorance, even as dozens of other little towns are doing," Judge Van Valkenburgh said when he imposed the fine. "I regret that I have to do anything to hurt Windsor finance, but it's the law. And those other towns will have to quit it too."

What Worth County Did.

The following from the Worth County Times at Grant City might be of interest to our county court and others who are wanting good roads:

"The county court at its sitting this week bought six wheel graders. These graders are to be used by overseers and others who are interested in good roads and easy access to bridges. Whenever a community desires to make a fill or an approach to a bridge, all that will be required is to make application to the county highway engineer fo the use of a grader to do the work. Headquarters for the graders will be in Grant City and after a job is completed they must be returned here so that others wanting to use them may know where to find them. As an aid to road and bridge approach building we think this move on the part of the county court the most sensible and practical thing done in many years. It will now be possible for communities to join in filling up some low place or cutting down the point of a sharp hill. It will also be a help in cutting off long wooden approaches to bridges. The county court is to be commended for the wisdom and foresight displayed in this matter, and we believe there will be a general endorsement of the plan."

Miss Alice Ford went to St. Joseph Friday evening for a few days' visit with friends.

RETIRE 48 BONDS

COUNTY WILL PAY OFF $24,000 ON AUGUST 1.

LAND AT $1.25 YER ACRE

But It Was Swamp Land That Had Been Entered in 1856—Another Justice Resigned.

Of the poor house bond issue, $24,000 will be paid off on August 1, according to an order made by the county court Friday. The court will inform the state auditor at Jefferson City that they are ready to retire forty-eight of these bonds of $500 each. The poor house bond issue was for $35,000 and was issued in February, 1908. After paying off $24,000, the county will have five years to pay off the balance, or $11,000.

The court made an order to sell 10.75 acres of land located in Lincoln township west of the Nodaway river to William S. Wallace for $13.44. It is swamp land. The order of the court on the minute book in part follows: "It appearing that 10.75 acres of land west of the Nodaway river in Lincoln township was entered from the United States by Joseph Hutson on March 22, 1856, paying $1.25 an acre, his rights thereunder by conveyances having passed to Wm. S. Wallace, and it further appearing the said land was embraced in the patent from the state to Nodaway county on June 26, 1869, by which it appears that the legal title is in Nodaway county, and the said Mr. Wallace has made application to purchase the land at the price of $1.25 an acre and has paid to the county treasurer $13.44, it is ordered that the court sell the tract to Mr. Wallace and that the presiding judge of the court and clerk of the court execute conveyance of said land to Wallace."

The court made an order to have the financial statement of the county published in the Weekly Democrat-Forum and the Weekly Tribune.

A number of bills were allowed by the court and an adjournment was taken Friday afternoon.

C. G. Swinford resigned as justice of peace of Union township. His resignation was accepted.

The resignations of J. E. Melvin and Gill Campbell as justices of peace of Polk township were accepted by the court.

FIVE INCHES OF RAIN.

Up to Saturday Morning That Was the Rainfall For This Month So Far.

There seems to be plenty of rain falling these days and the farmers are commencing to holler that they are having enough. The rains of Friday and during the night last night up to 7 o'clock Saturday morning amounted to one and one-half inches. So far during this month, the rainfall has amounted to five inches, and only about one-third of the month has passed. It was still raining during the day Saturday and the forcast indicates that there will be more tonight and Sunday. It was very cool Saturday and on account of the weather, it was a dull day in Maryville.

A Yarn on Hadley.

Senator Fred S. Hudson of Chillicothe related this campaign story to the Republican while in Macon the other day:

"Sam Clark of Carroll county was a great political enthusiast and an ardent supporter of Governor Hadley. When his excellency headed toward the Roosevelt camp, Sam went trailing along. He even went ahead of his astute friend. He got so far along in the Roosevelt band wagon that there was no backing water for Sam. He was there for keeps. With some bewilderment he watched the governor's course toward the close of the Republican convention and afterwards. When the governor went to Carroll county to make a speech, there was some little difficulty to find a man who would introduce him to his 'large and enthusiastic audience,' and Sam offered to tackle the job, and introduced the governor in these words, only slightly abridged:

"'Mr. Chairman and Fellow Citizens, in the years gone by a question was raised to the identity of the individual who struck Billy Patterson. The whereabouts of Charlie Ross have until this hour been a deep and unfathomable mystery. But, my fellow citizens, while there is life there is hope, and I, for one, shall never cease to look forward with eager expectation until we discover the hiding place of poor Charley, and learn how he has been behaving himself all the while.

"'How old is Ann? is another vexatious problem that has been thundered in our ears for many years. All in good time we will know just what is the age of the old girl, whether she tells us or not. In the whirligig of time, when those grave sentinels of the desert, the sombre sphynx and the pyramids, give up their secrets, so will these mysteries of our beloved land be explained. But there remains one which I have no hope any learned seer or prophet of this or any other land will ever be able to rightly answer, and that is, whom under the shining sun is Mr. Hadley going to vote for for president of these United States.

"'Gentlemen, I now introduce him to you. Do with him as you see fit.'"

The Unity of Town and Country.

The County Unit Local Option Bill passed by the late Missouri legislature recognizes simply that there is no wall around a town or city separating it from the rural communities. The life of city and country are very closely intermingled and the interdependence is becoming closer all the time.

It is a matter of general concern to a county whether liquor shall be sold in the towns.

Country bred youths and girls come to the town or city. The farmers and their families spend much of their time in the cities. Many parents of the farms move to the towns when their children are of high school age. The politics of city and rural districts are intermingled. The influence of the saloons in the centers of population affects the primaries and the elections affect the legislation of the entire state.

With the betterment of roads, the increased use of motor cars, the spread of interurban trolley service, most farm lands become suburbs of the cities and towns. From the cities go out the influences that protect the blind tigers and the whisky selling drug stores of the rural villages.

So the county unit bill expressed a popular need and a popular demand. This is proved by the very fact that the brewery and other liquor interests fear to have the local option issue for the towns participated in by the whole people.

It would be consequently a mockery of the very spirit of the referendum if it should be invoked to hold up the county unit bill until after November, 1914. Yet, as The Star has pointed out before, that mockery will not hurt the referendum. It will hurt Old Man Rum. It will hurt beer. It will confirm the county unit bill and be a long step toward making the entire State of Missouri dry.—Kansas City Star.

Dr. Frank Wallis, E. E. Williams and George Robb Ellison went to St. Joseph Saturday afternoon.

Soybeans a Coming Crop.

J. C. Hackelman.

The soybean plant is an erect growing annual, producing a considerable amount of seed in small pods near the stem. It grows to a height of two or three feet and when cut before the seeds ripen makes good hay. If allowed to mature, it becomes most too woody for hay, but the seed is very valuable for feed. It is sometimes grown as a silage crop or to plow down as a green manure. The different varieties mature in from 70 to 100 days.

If grown for hay or for pasture or to be used as a green manure, the seed should be sown on a well prepared seed bed about May 20 to 25 in Central Missouri, and about May 10 to 15 in South Missouri, putting it in with a grain drill at the rate of four or five pecks per acre. They may be seeded as late as June 20th.

Soybeans may be grown in the corn, either to be hogged down or to be put into the silo. For these purposes they should be planted with the corn, using about equal quantities of corn and soybeans. This is more satisfactory than seeding between the rows at the last cultivation.

If grown for seed, soybeans may be seeded in rows about thirty inches apart, using a peck and a half of seed per acre. They may be put in at this distance with the grain drill by stopping part of the holes. This allows of cultivation and, ordinarily, increases seed production.

Under Missouri conditions, the best varieties for hay are: Medium Yellow, Mongol and Black Beauty. For seed production Morse, Black Beauty, Medium Yellow, Ito San, and Hollybrooks are all good varieties.

The soybean is a leguminous plant, having free nitrogen gathering bacteria on its roots. For this reason it is usually best to inoculate the soil with the proper bacteria, although on rich land, soybeans do fairly well without soil inoculation.

One of the best ways to inoculate a field for soybeans is by giving a light dressing of soil from a field which has been successfully inoculated for the corp and upon which the plants have shown a good development of root nodules.

Communcation

What is the Reason?

A tax-paying citizen who is not allowed to vote asks why it is that after the roads around town are dragged, the crossings are not cleaned off. In the section of town where she lives the roads are being awfully nice and dragged and put in excellent condition for motorists and such, but several of the crossings that have to be gone over by pedestrians were deep in mud Friday morning. In some places the mud was nine inches deep. Now why?

The girls of the Willing Workers' class of the M. E. church Sunday school at Ravenwood gave a lawn party to the boys comprising the class known as "The Young Reliables," of the same Sunday school, Thursday evening. The party was given on the church lawn and was the social event of the season. Outdoor games and contests occupied the young people before and after the luncheon was served. Mrs. A. G. Bently is the teacher of the Willing Workers and Prof. L. L. King teaches the Young Reliables.

Mothers' Circle Meeting.

The Mothers' Circle held its regular monthly meeting Friday afternoon in the rest rooms of the Price & McNeal furniture company. After the devotional service, roll call was responded to with items in regard to housekeepers and homemakers. Quite a long list of business matters were attended to and reports from the various committees heard. Mrs. Berney Harris, chairman of the ways and means committee, reported that Miss Alma Nash's orchestra would give a concert under the auspices of the Mothers' Circle on the evening of May 19 in the high school auditorium. Mrs. J. W. Ray gave an excellent paper on "Cleaning Up" that may be the inspiration for the clean-up campaign the Circle will soon start.

A Delightful Luncheon.

The seventh and eighth grade girls of the Normal training school, who are only in their first year of home economics, planned, prepared and served a five-course luncheon Friday at the noon hour in the dining room of the Normal cottage. The color scheme, which was red and green was carried out in a centerpiece of red tulips, and in the place cards which were designed by the girls in their art classes. Every dish on the menu illustrated some of the food principles, each one of which had been previously prepared in the regular class work. The guests were Mrs. H. K. Taylor, Mrs. A. R. Perrin, Miss Katherine Helwig, Miss Carrie Hopkins, Miss Fannie Hope and Miss Jessie Mutz, and the hostesses were Alma Tabler, Lila May Tabler, Hattie May Taylor, Nellie Hutton, Gertrude Smith, Gladys Howard, Fern Wright, Wave Hewlett and Jennie O'Neal.

In the Morning.

In my boyhood the sun always rose in the east. During subsequent wanderings, owing to my faculty of getting turned around, it rises in the south, the west, the north or most any old direction except the right one. So when I think of a morning it is usually of a morning of my boyhood. The points of the compass are necessary to the proper appreciation of such things.

When I was a boy the sun used to rise and shine into my window through an old locust tree. There was some kind of wonderful bird that sang to it. I do not to this day know what kind of bird it was, but the song was very sweet. I get a sort of shivery happiness away down inside of me when I hear it to this very day.

Those were wonderful mornings—when I was a boy. There were generally dewdrops on the hollyhocks, and they gleamed—well, as the dew does gleam on hollyhocks when you are a boy. You know how it is yourself. Don't expect me to spoil it by comparing it to diamonds or any such junk. That would be out of the picture. I knew nothing about diamonds then—and know little now.

So when I think of a morning scene, it is of those morning scenses. There was the little hill in the sheep pasture across the road, and the summer sun peeped up over its shoulder. And there was the cherry tree where the swing was, and the sun sort of slanted around the hill and through the locust and into this cherry tree.

A little farther on was a strip of woods where the whippoorwills and the frogs sang at night and where we made paths through the leaves of that we could creep up on the squirrels without scaring them. All of that is in the picture, although it may seem that the paths are paths of digression.

Yes, and there were dreams. No morning when you are a boy is complete without dreams.

There were dreams of fame, of love and of high adventure, of course. All boys have them. Yet in my own case there was one particular vision that did not concern me personally or concerned me only as a part of the general human scheme. It was that we are in a new morning of humanity of which those physical mornings were but symbols. There was a better day coming—a new order.

Maybe the dream is coming true. Perhaps there is a new day breaking over the earth. Perhaps there is a new morning for humanity—Edgerton.

MUNSTERBERG SOUNDS ALARM

Germans Are Scared by Peace Centennial Celebration.

ANDREW CARNEGIE REPLIES.

Scotch-American, Who Is Presiding, Says There Is Absolutely No Foundation for Any Inference It Means Discrimination Against Germans.

New York, May 10.—Professor Munsterberg of Harvard, a German citizen, told the American committee arranging for a celebration of 100 years of peace among English speaking peoples that there were many "non-English people" who regard the movement as a forerunner of an alliance between England and the United States antagonistic to Germany. While he regarded such a view as absurd, Professor Munsterberg added, he warned the committee to proceed carefully.

Mr. Carnegie, presiding, was quick to reply to Dr. Munsterberg.

"We are so innocent of the charge," he said, "that we cannot imagine that anybody would suspect us. The American has no preference, I might say. We happen to speak English and the Germans rapidly acquire that habit, I take notice. I suggest that the proposed monuments which are to commemorate the 100 years of peace of the past should also say this:

"'With abiding faith in unbroken peace with all nations for centuries to come.' That will relieve it, professor. I love my own native land as my mother's land and I have loved this republic as my wifeland.

"We have no more patriotic Americans than the German people."

NO CURE DISCOVERED

Tuberculosis Association Takes Hot Shot at Dr. Friedmann.

Washington, May 10.—The first authentic and official report of the federal government's investigation of the Friedmann tuberculosis vaccine made public here declares the results of the public health service's observation so far "do not justify that confidence in the remedy which has been inspired by widespread publicity."

The National Association for the Sturdy and Prevention of Tuberculosis, before which the report was presented, immediately and unanimously adopted a resolution declaring its belief that no "specific cure for tuberculosis has been discovered that deserves the confidence of the medical profession and the public," and declaring it to be the duty of the public to "continue the present well tried remedies."

CORSETS CAUSE OF CANCER

Savant Classifies Tight Lacing With Clay Pipes Among Dangers.

Washington, May 10.—Plans for the formation of a society for the study and prevention of cancer were announced by Frederick L. Hoffman, a director of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, which closed its annual meeting.

Mr. Hoffman said that corsets worn by women, heat on the lips from the stem of a clay pipe, growths caused by tar by those in the pitch industry, the eating of too hot food and of brook trout are among known and probable causes of the disease.

Farmer Buys Jail for Chicken Coop.

Kingston, Mo., May 10.—Well lighted streets are a better asset than an empty jail, according to the city council of Kingston. The council authorised the sale of the town jail to provide funds for street lights. The jail has not held a prisoner for six months. After spirited bidding the jail was sold to a farmer, who will use the cells for chicken coops.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE

Favorable Crop Outlook Results in Increase of Confidence.

New York, May 10.—Dun's Review says: In spite of some curtailment of orders for merchandise affected by pending tariff changes the unusually favorable crop conditions have resulted in a marked increase of confidence throughout the west and south. The passage of the tariff bill by the house of representatives brings the end of this element of uncertainty measurably nearer. Meanwhile it is a most encouraging fact that reports from fifty-eight cities show a gain in building activity for April of 1 per cent, as compared with the same month in 1912, a heavy decrease at New York city being more than offset by gains elsewhere, particularly at Chicago and at most points in the west and on the Pacific slope.

Production of iron and steel continues close to capacity, but new shares are less insistent and deliveries are made more promptly. In textiles warmer and more settled weather has greatly improved the volume of retail trade, although merchants are still conservative in placing filling-in orders.

CONFESSES HE IS STRATTON

Convict Escaping From Leavenworth Prison Admits Identity.

Peoria, May 10.—Clyde Stratton, the convict who made a sensational escape from the government prison at Leavenworth on March 29 by crawling through a half mile of sewer and who is now under arrest at Pekin, Ill., on a charge of burglary, confessed that he is the man wanted at Leavenworth prison. Stratton further admitted that he was familiar with the details of the robbery of the diamond merchant, J. H. Logue, in Chicago, for which he once was arrested, and that he was an automobile bandit in Chicago for four days.

TARIFF WAR IN SENATE IS ON

Republicans Begin Fight for Public Committee Hearings.

UNDERWOOD BILL IS ASSAILED

Michigan Member Declares the Measure Will Result in Repetition of "Dark Days of Nineties"—Says Beet Sugar Industry Is Menaced.

Washington, May 10.—Republicans of the senate leaped eagerly into their fight against the Underwood bill when it was brought over from the house and precipitated an issue by attempting to override the decision of the Democrats to consider the measure without public hearings.

Forerunning the assault that the Republicans propose to wage on the schedules from agate to zinc, the Republicans propose to have the bill referred to the finance committee with public hearings after Senator Simmons, chairman of the committee, has moved for a conference without instructions.

While this phase was pending, when the senate adjourned until Tuesday, several Republican leaders predicted that they would win their contention and that public hearings would be forced over the heads of the finance committee. Democratic leaders, however, disputed this prediction.

Senator William Alden Smith (Mich.), in a vigorous appeal for consideration of the bill in the open, instead of "in the darkness and gloom" of the committee room, assailed the tariff bill. He declared that it would result in a repetition of "dark days" that followed the Wilson bill, that the sugar industry would be ruined, that other industries would suffer and that already business was falling off rapidly throughout the country.

Charging that free sugar in three years would give the American Sugar Refining company and the Federal Sugar Refining company an option which they would foreclose on the property of the beet sugar interests, their only domestic rivals, Senator Smith declared that the beet sugar industry, in which 15,000 persons in Michigan alone were interested, would be wiped out.

LEADERS YIELD TO WILSON

Permanent Organization of National Committee Postponed.

Washington, May 10.—The Democratic national committee acquiesced in President Wilson's proposal for a postponement of permanent reorganization pending conferences to consider an increase of the representation of senators on the committee. This decision was reached after a session devoted chiefly to speeches urging the necessity for harmonious action of the Democrats in the next congressional campaign.

The committee adopted a motion of Representative Johnson of Kentucky, the most conspicuous candidate for the chairmanship, that the retiring chairman, Representative Lloyd of Missouri, and retiring secretary, Representative Page of North Carolina, act as the temporary chairman and secretary until the organization is perfected.

Birdmen Flee to Mexico.

Nogales, Ariz., May 10.—Didier Masson, aviator, and Thomas Dean, mechanic, for whom warrants have been issued in connection with the war aeroplane adventure, are in Mexico, wearing uniforms of the constitutionalist army, took quarters at a hotel in Nogales, Sonora. The big flying machine continues to be held by the United States federal authorities, twenty miles south of Tucson, Ariz., where it was captured.

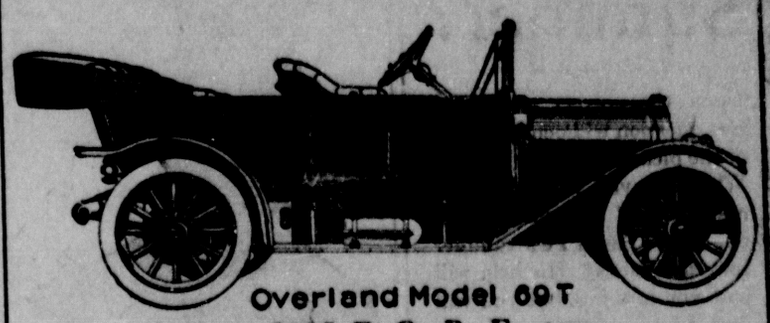
The Car for the Emergency

NOBODY knows better than the medical practitioner how a difference of minutes in the arrival of the physician may often mean just the difference between life and death.



Overland Model 69T

Price $985 F. O. B. Factory

The busy doctor takes to the automobile in the same spirit in which he avails himself of the latest discoveries of medical science.

The automobile-using physician makes the round of his patients in one-third the time necessary for his less up-to-date brother who clings to slow and tedious horse transportation. Or, he can see three times as many patients in the same time.

In either case he increases not only his income, but also his value to the community in which he practices, as well as his opportunities for study and recreation when the stern routine of the physician's calling gives way to relaxation.

No physician who has given the automobile a trial has ever returned to the horse and buggy.

Many physicians use Overlands. Some use other automobiles. But the consensus of opinion of Overland-using doctors is that its sterling reliability makes it the ideal doctor's car, because it is always ready, for work as for play—a blessing to the patient, and a boon to the physician, to whom it certainly is worth more than it costs him.

At least come and take a look at it—take a ride, then ask those who have already bought one. Compare it with others—then draw your own conclusions. That's all we ask.

REFERENDUM IS ATTACKED BY TAFT

Professor Denounces Initiative in Yale Lectures.

New Haven, Conn., May 10.—Former President Taft, Kent professor of law at Yale, in his third lecture on "Some Questions of Modern Government," denounced the initiative and referendum, as "very much like legislation during the French revolution—the work of political cranks and directly contrary to the spirit of the constitution."

He dealt at length with the income tax and advocated a graduated income tax, which would include all incomes of more than $1,000, on the ground that "everybody ought to contribute something, in order that he may feel more responsibility in the government because of his payment."

Professor Taft discussed characteristics of present day men in congress, declaring they pay too much attention to what their constituents want.

WILL DISMISS SUITS

Jefferson City, Mo., May 10.—Judge Thomas Bates of Chicago, attorney for the fire insurance companies which had threatened to withdraw from the state as a result of the recently enacted anti-trust law, will advise the companies to remain in the state, and Attorney General Barker will then dismiss the suits filed against them.

This was the understanding reached after a protracted conference between Judge Bates, Governor Major, Attorney General Barker, Superintendent of Insurance Revelle and former Governor Joseph W. Folk, representing St. Louis business interests.

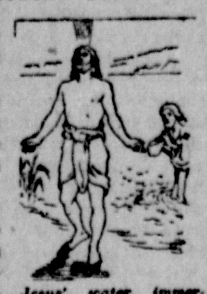
1 Corinthians 12:1-11—May 11.

"There are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit."—Verse 4.

WHITSUNTIDE, or Pentecost, marks a period in God's great Program next in importance to the events connected with our Lord Jesus; namely, His baptism and anointing of the Holy Spirit at Jordan, His finishing His vow of consecration at Calvary, His resurrection and glorious spirit-birth, as partaker of the Divine nature.

When Jesus consecrated His life at Jordan, and symbolized it in His water baptism, God accepted the sacrifice, and bestowed upon Him the Holy Spirit in begetting power. Thenceforth He was the Son of God in two senses—according to the flesh, and according to the Spirit. But in God's order, the spirit-begotten One was to triumph by fully offering up the fleshly one. This work was accomplished at Calvary, where Jesus laid down His life on behalf of the world.



Jesus' water immersion and Spirit-Begetting.

After Jesus' ascension, He appeared in the Father's presence, and made satisfaction for the sins of the Church alone—those who would accept the Father's call to walk in Jesus' footsteps. As for the world, their sins are still upon them. The only way to obtain forgiveness, therefore, is to become a disciple of Jesus.

The Scriptures show us that God has a different time and way for dealing with the world. He will deal with the world through Christ's Millennial Kingdom, scattering their darkness, forgiving their sins and uplifting them to human perfection. Meantime, He deals with the Church only, and it is the Church that the Apostle discusses in today's lesson.

The Church began its existence at Pentecost. Hence Whitsuntide marks an important event in the Church's affairs. Until our Lord's presentation of His merit on their behalf, they were like the remainder of mankind—condemned in Adam. When the Pentecostal blessing came, it manifested the Father's acceptance of Jesus' sacrifice as satisfactory for the sins of the Church—the Household of Faith.

The Gifts of the Spirit.

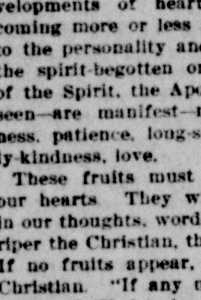
We are to distinguish between the gifts of the Spirit and the fruits of the Spirit. The fruits of the Spirit are developments of heart and character, coming more or less slowly, according to the personality and environment of the spirit-begotten one. These fruits of the Spirit, the Apostle says, can be seen—are manifest—meekness, gentleness, patience, long-suffering, brotherly-kindness, love.

These fruits must be developed in our hearts. They will be manifested in our thoughts, words and deeds. The riper the Christian, the riper the fruits. If no fruits appear, then there is no Christian. "If any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of His." But these fruits may be so overshadowed by weaknesses of the flesh that all may not see to what extent he is fighting a good fight against the world, the flesh and the Devil.

When Pentecost came, the disciples were not prepared to manifest immediately ripe fruitage of the Spirit. Up to this time they were natural men. We see, then, why they could not have a manifestation of the fruits of the Spirit. But it was necessary that they have some indication of God's favor.

God manifested His acceptance of their consecration by the bestowment of certain gifts, which were not fruits of the Spirit in any sense. These gifts were widely distributed in the early Church, and were miraculous. Some spoke languages of which they had no previous knowledge; some had the gift of interpreting these languages; some received the gift of healing; some had power for other miracles.

These gifts served a three-fold purpose: (1) They manifested God's favor, thereby proving that Christ's redemption work had been satisfactory. (2) They proved that God was with the disciples, and this would induce lovers of God to investigate the Gospel. (3) They assured the disciples that God was leading them.



Pentecost Manifested God's Acceptance of Jesus' Sacrifice.

These experiences were necessary. The early Church could not walk by faith as we do. They had no Bibles. They had no instruction, except such as came through these channels. St. Paul explains the matter in today's lesson. Through the operation of these gifts the brethren obtained fellowship and instruction.

God taught them in almost the only possible way in which they could receive instruction, but very differently from that in which He has since instructed His people. Such instruction is no longer necessary, and hence no longer given. We have the Scriptures Divinely provided helps, with which, as St. Paul declares, the man of God may be thoroughly furnished unto every good work. Instead of the gifts, we have the fruits of the Spirit, the chief of which is Love.

WHY SOME TOWNS GROW.

Push and Energy Among Citizens the Great Contributing Force.

In every county in every state can be found towns that are continually forging ahead, while others remain practically at a standstill and accomplish nothing in the way of advancement. In every case the fault can be found to rest, not with the town, but with the people themselves. An exchange has been thinking pretty seriously along this line and presents its conclusions in this way:

"The reason why some towns grow is because they have men in them with push and energy who are not afraid to spend their time, energy and money in anything that will boom and benefit the town. They have confidence enough in their town to erect substantial and modern buildings and residences and work for public improvements in the same order.

"They organize companies and establish factories, induce industrial enterprise to locate and use every means to further the best interests of the town. Their work is never considered finished, and the accomplishment of one thing is only an incentive of another.

"On the other hand, the town that does not get ahead will be found to be dominated by either a set of men who are perfectly satisfied with their surroundings or who are afraid somebody else will be benefited in the event something is started; consequently, no effort of any kind is made by this class, for these two reasons.

"If some men or set of men endeavor to start something they are met by opposition and discouragement and it is uphill work all the way and very often failure.

"Every town, however, has a certain progressive element which hopes for a turn of the tide when the town will go forward by leaps and bounds and occupy a position of importance and obtain numerous advantages which go to make a good town in every sense.

"But this stage cannot be accomplished by mere wishes or suppositions. It can only come from harmony in purpose and action and the eternal vigilance of its citizens.

"The town with these things will continue to grow and improve, but the town without them can be expected to remain in a state of lethargy indefinitely without affording its residents anything but a mere existence.

"It is all true."

SNEAK ALIENS INTO CANADA

Russians Get Into the Dominion Through Private Gateway.

Seattle, May 9.—A private gateway through the Canadian boundary which has been admitting ineligible aliens by the wholesale has been discovered and the gate proprietor and twenty one Russian immigrants are under arrest.

The Russians were taken into custody at Custer, Wash. They told of having crossed the line on a trail near Blaine, and of a guide who charged them only $1 each as pilot fee. The immigrants were ticketed from Russia to Vancouver and thus were able to land at New York and make a continuous journey from the United States to the point on the Canadian border nearest their destination. The heavy stream of immigrants into Vancouver from Russia led to an official investigation.

Graham Flour Is Officially Defined.

Washington, May 9.—Having learned that many so called "graham flours" on the market contain the sweepings from the mill and that they often contain "red dog," the lowest grade of flour produced, as well as bran and other by-products, the United States bureau of chemistry has defined true graham flour as "unbolted wheat meal, made from sound, fully matured, air-dried wheat." This is the report of an extensive investigation just ended. It is held that the mixtures should be labeled "imitation graham flour."

LIVED ON RAW EGGS

Mr. Richard's Experience With Different Diets. Peaches and Buttermilk for Three Years.

Cecilton, Md.—Mr. George Richards, of this place, during the past 12 years, has probably tried more different diets than the average person would ever use in a lifetime.

What he has to say about his experiments, must therefore be highly interesting to anyone suffering from indigestion or stomach troubles of any kind.

He says: "For more than 12 years, I suffered with stomach troubles, and paid hundreds of dollars for doctor bills and medicines. I was also operated on for piles.

I lived on dried peaches and buttermilk for nearly three years. The only thing that would not give me pain was raw eggs.

I was a physical wreck. I could not sleep, and was as near crazy as a man could well be.

I must say that after taking two 25-cent packages of Thedford's Black-Draught, it did me more good than all I ever spent for other medicines.

I have been working daily on the farm ever since, and I am as hard as iron." This purely vegetable remedy has been in successful use for more than 70 years. Try it. But be sure that it's "Thedford's."

VOLUME 3. MARYVILLE, MISSOURI, SATURDAY, MAY 10, 1913. NO. 293.

HE DIDN'T SAY IT

MR. BATES DENIES HE HAD ADVISED COMPANIES TO RESUME.

BARKER SURE OF BATES

Attorney General Thinks Bates Will So Advise Companies—Will Push Prosecutions if They Don't Return.

Thomas Bates, in Chicago Friday, attorney for the fire insurance companies in the litigation growing out of their suspension of business in Missouri because of the enactment of the Orr law, denied absolutely the report telegraphed from Jefferson City that he had advised the companies to resume business in the state. Mr. Bates said, on the contrary, he had flatly refused to sign an agreement to that effect which was urged upon him, and answered all the various propositions made to him with the statement that he was there mostly to represent the insurance companies in the litigation and had no authority even to consider any proposition leading to their return to the state.

Insurance agents were hopeful yesterday morning that the situation was cleared up and that business soon would be resumed by the companies.

Attorney General Barker at Jefferson City gave out the following statement in reply to Judge Bates:

"I do not understand from his article that he will not instruct the companies to resume business, but rather that he did not agree so to do. I made Judge Bates a proposition which I understood that he accepted, and I am expecting the insurance companies to resume business in this state within a few days.

"I am sure that Judge Bates will instruct his companies that in view of my opinion they can safely transact business in this state. If the insurance companies do not return to this state under this agreement, the suits in the supreme court will be rushed and the rights of the people fully protected, as Missouri is not at all at the mercy of the insurance trust."

DRAGGING THE ROADS.

Parnell and Burlington Junction Farmers Believe in Using the Drag.

The following is from this week's Parnell Sentinel:

"The following farmers came into town Thursday morning with road drags: Wallace Kennedy, G. T. Logan, W. E. Bloomfield and John Hovenkotter. This shows enterprise and they should certainly be commended for their work. It has been proven long ago that nothing is better to keep the roads in condition than a road drag. They also dragged the road from town to the cemetery."

Here is what this week's Burlington Junction Post had to say about the farmers dragging the roads in that community:

"Ten big horses and three drags were an unusual sight on Main street Wednesday morning. Result—the road was in fine condition when the farmers had finished their work. Allie Trooper, Holmes Yates and W. P. Nicholas were out early Wednesday morning with their drags, working their roads down in fine shape and they decided that what was worth doing at all was worth doing well, so they just headed their teams towards town and put a finishing touch to their morning's labor by marching right down Main street with their drags. That's the right spirit, boys. Drag, brother, drag."

Is a Substitute Clerk.

Robert G. Sanders is working in the postoffice this week getting onto the work. Mr. Sanders is a substitute clerk and is next in line for a clerkship in that office. Charles Moore is substitute city carrier and will be next in line for that place. As in a month or so, the various postoffice employees will take their vacations, it is necessary to have a substitute clerk.

MUST SWAT FLIES

SCREENS FOR NEW GOVERNMENT BUILDING CONDEMNED.

WILL MOVE THIS MONTH

Orders Have Been Received to Occupy New Building—Another Delay in Revolving Door.

When the postoffice is moved this month into the new government building on North Main street, there will be no revolving door at the front entrance to the building and there will be no screens on the windows. All the other work on the building, however, will be done and everything will be in readiness for the postoffice to locate there. Such was the announcement made by J. R. Edwards, superintendent of construction of the building.

The postoffice will move sometime this month, probably during the last week, into the new building. Postmaster Beech has been ordered to move by the postoffice department at Washington.

The revolving door for the front entrance will be put in later. When it was received recently, it was in such shape that a man from the factory will arrive soon to see whether it can be fixed here or whether a new door in necessary. The revolving door for the south side entrance is O. K. and will be put in.

The screens for the windows were received, but they were condemned, so new screens will be ordered. It will probably take some time for them to come.

Just part of the furniture is here, being cases and racks. It is expected that the balance of the furniture will be here in the next few days.

CONTEST IS HELD ILLEGAL.

U. S. Court Fines Company $100—Watching Other Towns Also.

Kansas City, May 8.—It was a fine little scheme of the merchants of Windsor, Mo., down in Henry county, to have a "grand gift drawing contest" on "stock days" there. It always brought the crowds. The stores were jammed with buyers, the square was lined with the horses and wagons of farmers, business was on the jump.

With every purchase made in any store in the town, tickets bearing different numbers, were given the buyers. These tickets were placed in a big barrel. At evening the drawing was held. The holders of the lucky numbers took away with them either a twenty dollar gold piece, a suit of clothes or a pair of shoes.

But Judge Van Valkenburgh smashed the fine little scheme into fine little bits this morning in the United States district court when he fined the Livingston Trading company of Windsor $100 for promoting the gift drawing. It had pleaded guilty to the charge of conducting a lottery against government laws.

"I realize no harm was meant, it was conducted in ignorance, even as dozens of other little towns are doing," Judge Van Valkenburgh said when he imposed the fine. "I regret that I have to do anything to hurt Windsor finance, but it's the law. And those other towns will have to quit it too."

What Worth County Did.

The following from the Worth County Times at Grant City might be of interest to our county court and others who are wanting good roads:

"The county court at its sitting this week bought six wheel graders. These graders are to be used by overseers and others who are interested in good roads and easy access to bridges. Whenever a community desires to make a fill or an approach to a bridge, all that will be required is to make application to the county highway engineer fo the use of a grader to do the work. Headquarters for the graders will be in Grant City and after a job is completed they must be returned here so that others wanting to use them may know where to find them. As an aid to road and bridge approach building we think this move on the part of the county court the most sensible and practical thing done in many years. It will now be possible for communities to join in filling up some low place or cutting down the point of a sharp hill. It will also be a help in cutting off long wooden approaches to bridges. The county court is to be commended for the wisdom and foresight displayed in this matter, and we believe there will be a general endorsement of the plan."

Miss Alice Ford went to St. Joseph Friday evening for a few days' visit with friends.

RETIRE 48 BONDS

COUNTY WILL PAY OFF $24,000 ON AUGUST 1.

LAND AT $1.25 YER ACRE

But It Was Swamp Land That Had Been Entered in 1856—Another Justice Resigned.

Of the poor house bond issue, $24,000 will be paid off on August 1, according to an order made by the county ecurt Friday. The court will inform the state auditor at Jefferson City that they are ready to retire forty-eight of these bonds of $500 each. The poor house bond issue was for $35,000 and was issued in February, 1908. After paying off $24,000, the county will have five years to pay off the balance, or $11,000.

The court made an order to sell 10.75 acres of land located in Lincoln township west of the Nodaway river to William S. Wallace for $13.44. It is swamp land. The order of the court on the minute book in part follows: "It appearing that 10.75 acres of land west of the Nodaway river in Lincoln township was entered from the United States by Joseph Hutson on March 22, 1856, paying $1.25 an acre, his rights thereunder by conveyances having passed to Wm. S. Wallace, and it further appearing the said land was embraced in the patent from the state to Nodaway county on June 26, 1869, by which it appears that the legal title is in Nodaway county, and the said Mr. Wallace has made application to purchase the land at the price of $1.25 an acre and has paid to the county treasurer $13.44, it is ordered that the court sell the tract to Mr. Wallace and that the presiding judge of the court and clerk of the court execute conveyance of said land to Wallace."

The court made an order to have the financial statement of the county published in the Weekly Democrat-Forum and the Weekly Tribune.

A number of bills were allowed by the court and an adjournment was taken Friday afternoon.

C. G. Swinford resigned as justice of peace of Union township. His resignation was accepted.

The resignations of J. E. Melvin and Gill Campbell as justices of peace of Polk township were accepted by the court.

FIVE INCHES OF RAIN.

Up to Saturday Morning That Was the Rainfall For This Month So Far.

There seems to be plenty of rain falling these days and the farmers are commencing to holler that they are having enough. The rains of Friday and during the night last night up to 7 o'clock Saturday morning amounted to one and one-half inches. So far during this month, the rainfall has amounted to five inches, and only about one-third of the month has passed. It was still raining during the day Saturday and the forcast indicates that there will be more tonight and Sunday. It was very cool Saturday and on account of the weather, it was a dull day in Maryville.

John D. Growney Suing John McGarry for Cutting Trees, Claiming Damages of $75.

A case from Conception Junction was up in Justice W. L. Johnson's court on Friday. John D. Growney was suing John McGarry, and the petition alleges that the defendant trespassed by cutting away trees and timber. There were 75 trees cut down and damages of $75 was asked for. The jury returned a verdict of $5 for plaintiff and that the defendant had probable cause to believe the trees were on his land. The jury was composed of George W. Stafford, James Colvin, Ed McMillen, J. F. Cook, Verne Wray and H. E. Wright. John Dawson and P. L. Growney represented the plaintiff, and Wright & Ford, the defendant.

V. I. Moore went to St. Joseph Saturday morning, where he will be an official in the Missouri Valley track meet, which is being held at Lake Contrary today.

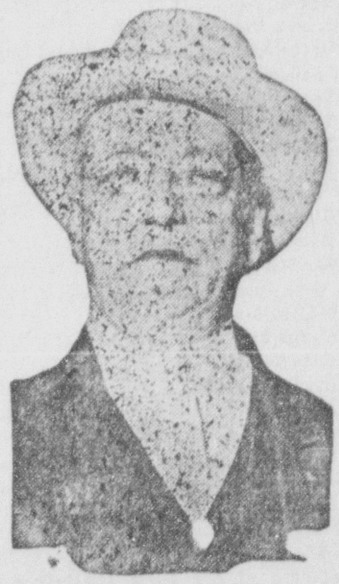
SAMUEL GOMPERS.

For a Second Time the Courts Have Decided He Must Serve Jail Term.



© by American Press Association.

At his first trial the labor leader was found guilty of contempt of justice in violating an injunction, and he was sentenced to one year in jail. An appeal was taken to the District supreme court in Washington, and he has again lost, but this time the sentence was modified to thirty days. The case will now probably go to the United States supreme court.

MISS JONES IN RECITAL.

Maryville Young Woman Mentioned Among Good Voices in Treble Clef Club Program in Kansas City.

The Kansas City Times of Friday gave complimentary notice of the recital given Thursday night by the Treble Clef Study Club in the Studio building. The Times said: "There are some exceptionally good voices in the club, and under the direction of Mrs. Ella Van Huff, the young women showed remarkable co-operation and finish in their ensemble work, well deserving of the applause it received. The feature of the program was the singing of Mrs. Van Huff. She has the enviable gift of a full contralto voice of rare quality and wide range which has had the advantage of careful training."

The name of Miss Marie A. Jones of Maryville was given in the list of those on the program. It will be remembered that Mrs. Van Huff and Miss Jones appeared at the M. E. church in this city on the evening of April 11, in the closing number of the Conservatory Lecture-Recital Course.

A Yarn on Hadley.

Senator Fred S. Hudson of Chillicothe related this campaign story to the Republican while in Macon the other day:

"Sam Clark of Carroll county was a great political enthusiast and an ardent supporter of Governor Hadley. When his excellency headed toward the Roosevelt camp, Sam went trailing along. He even went ahead of his astute friend. He got so far along in the Roosevelt band wagon that there was no backing water for Sam. He was there for keeps. With some bewilderment he watched the governor's course toward the close of the Republican convention and afterwards. When the governor went to Carroll county to make a speech, there was some little difficulty to find a man who would introduce him to his 'large and enthusiastic audience,' and Sam offered to tackle the job, and introduced the governor in these words, only slightly abridged:

"'Mr. Chairman and Fellow Citizens, in the years gone by a question was raised to the identity of the individual who struck Billy Patterson. The whereabouts of Charlie Ross have until this hour been a deep and unfathomable mystery. But, my fellow citizens, while there is life there is hope, and I, for one, shall never cease to look forward with eager expectation until we discover the hiding place of poor Charley, and learn how he has been behaving himself all the while.

"'How old is Ann? is another vexatious problem that has been thundered in our ears for many years. All in good time we will know just what is the age of the old girl, whether she tells us or not. In the whirligig of time, when those grave sentinels of the desert, the sombre sphynx and the pyramids, give up their secrets, so will these mysteries of our beloved land be explained. But there remains one which I have no hope any learned seer or prophet of this or any other land will ever be able to rightly answer, and that is, whom under the shining sun is Mr. Hadley going to vote for for president of these United States.

"'Gentlemen, I now introduce him to you. Do with him as you see fit.'"

The Unity of Town and Country.

The County Unit Local Option Bill passed by the late Missouri legislature recognizes simply that there is no wall around a town or city separating it from the rural communities. The life of city and country are very closely intermingled and the interdependence is becoming closer all the time.

It is a matter of general concern to a county whether liquor shall be sold in the towns.

Country bred youths and girls come to the town or city. The farmers and their families spend much of their time in the cities. Many parents of the farms move to the towns when their children are of high school age. The politics of city and rural districts are intermingled. The influence of the saloons in the centers of population affects the primaries and the elections affect the legislation of the entire state.

With the betterment of roads, the increased use of motor cars, the spread of interurban trolley service, most farm lands become suburbs of the cities and towns. From the cities go out the influences that protect the blind tigers and the whisky selling drug stores of the rural villages.

So the county unit bill expressed a popular need and a popular demand. This is proved by the very fact that the brewery and other liquor interests fear to have the local option issue for the towns participated in by the whole people.

It would be consequently a mockery of the very spirit of the referendum if it should be invoked to hold up the county unit bill until after November, 1914. Yet, as The Star has pointed out before, that mockery will not hurt the referendum. It will hurt Old Man Rum. It will hurt beer. It will confirm the county unit bill and be a long step toward making the entire State of Missouri dry.—Kansas City Star.

Dr. Frank Wallis, E. E. Williams and George Robb Ellison went to St. Joseph Saturday afternoon.

Soybeans a Coming Crop.

J. C. Hackelman.

The soybean plant is an erect growing annual, producing a considerable amount of seed in small pods near the stem. It grows to a height of two or three feet and when cut before the seeds ripen makes good hay. If allowed to mature, it becomes most too woody for hay, but the seed is very valuable for feed. It is sometimes grown as a silage crop or to plow down as a green manure. The different varieties mature in from 70 to 100 days.

If grown for hay or for pasture or to be used as a green manure, the seed should be sown on a well prepared seed bed about May 20 to 25 in Central Missouri, and about May 10 to 15 in South Missouri, putting it in with a grain drill at the rate of four or five pecks per acre. They may be seeded as late as June 20th.

Soybeans may be grown in the corn, either to be hogged down or to be put into the silo. For these purposes they should be planted with the corn, using about equal quantities of corn and soybeans. This is more satisfactory than seeding between the rows at the last cultivation.

If grown for seed, soybeans may be seeded in rows about thirty inches apart, using a peck and a half of seed per acre. They may be put in at this distance with the grain drill by stopping part of the holes. This allows of cultivation and, ordinarily, increases seed production.

Under Missouri conditions, the best varieties for hay are: Medium Yellow, Mongol and Black Beauty. For seed production Morse, Black Beauty, Medium Yellow, Ito San, and Hollybrooks are all good varieties.

The soybean is a leguminous plant, having free nitrogen gathering bacteria on its roots. For this reason it is usually best to inoculate the soil with the proper bacteria, although on rich land, soybeans do fairly well without soil inoculation.

One of the best ways to inoculate a field for soybeans is by giving a light dressing of soil from a field which has been successfully inoculated for the corp and upon which the plants have shown a good development of root nodules.

What is the Reason?

A tax-paying citizen who is not allowed to vote asks why it is that after the roads around town are dragged, the crossings are not cleaned off. In the section of town where she lives the roads are being awfully nice and dragged and put in excellent condition for motorists and such, but several of the crossings that have to be gone over by pedestrians were deep in mud Friday morning. In some places the mud was nine inches deep. Now why?

Party on Church Lawn.

The girls of the Willing Workers' class of the M. E. church Sunday school at Ravenwood gave a lawn party to the boys comprising the class known as "The Young Reliables," of the same Sunday school, Thursday evening. The party was given on the church lawn and was the social event of the season. Outdoor games and contests occupied the young people before and after the luncheon was served. Mrs. A. G. Bently is the teacher of the Willing Workers and Prof. L. L. King teaches the Young Reliables.

Mothers' Circle Meeting.

The Mothers' Circle held its regular monthly meeting Friday afternoon in the rest rooms of the Price & McNeal furniture company. After the devotional service, roll call was responded to with items in regard to housekeepers and homemakers. Quite a long list of business matters were attended to and reports from the various committees heard. Mrs. Berney Harris, chairman of the ways and means committee, reported that Miss Alma Nash's orchestra would give a concert under the auspices of the Mothers' Circle on the evening of May 19 in the high school auditorium. Mrs. J. W. Ray gave an excellent paper on "Cleaning Up" that may be the inspiration for the clean-up campaign the Circle will soon start.

A Delightful Luncheon.

The seventh and eighth grade girls of the Normal training school, who are only in their first year of home economics, planned, prepared and served a five-course luncheon Friday at the noon hour in the dining room of the Normal cottage. The color scheme, which was red and green was carried out in a centerpiece of red tulips, and in the place cards which were designed by the girls in their art classes. Every dish on the menu illustrated some of the food principles, each one of which had been previously prepared in the regular class work. The guests were Mrs. H. K. Taylor, Mrs. A. R. Perrin, Miss Katherine Helwig, Miss Carrie Hopkins, Miss Fannie Hope and Miss Jessie Mutz, and the hostesses were Alma Tabler, Lila May Tabler, Hattie May Taylor, Nellie Hutton, Gertrude Smith, Gladys Howard, Fern Wright, Wave Hewlett and Jennie O'Neal.

In the Morning.

In my boyhood the sun always rose in the east. During subsequent wanderings, owing to my faculty of getting turned around, it rises in the south, the west, the north or most any old direction except the right one. So when I think of a morning it is usually of a morning of my boyhood. The points of the compass are necessary to the proper appreciation of such things.

When I was a boy the sun used to rise and shine into my window through an old locust tree. There was some kind of wonderful bird that sang to it. I do not to this day know what kind of bird it was, but the song was very sweet. I get a sort of shivery happiness away down inside of me when I hear it to this very day.

Those were wonderful mornings—when I was a boy. There were generally dewdrops on the hollyhocks, and they gleamed—well, as the dew does gleam on hollyhocks when you are a boy. You know how it is yourself. Don't expect me to spoil it by comparing it to diamonds or any such junk. That would be out of the picture. I knew nothing about diamonds then—and know little now.

So when I think of a morning scene, it is of those morning scenses. There was the little hill in the sheep pasture across the road, and the summer sun peeped up over its shoulder. And there was the cherry tree where the swing was, and the sun sort of slanted around the hill and through the locust and into this cherry tree.

A little farther on was a strip of woods where the whippoorwills and the frogs sang at night and where we made paths through the leaves of that we could creep up on the squirrels without scaring them. All of that is in the picture, although it may seem that the paths are paths of digression.

Yes, and there were dreams. No morning when you are a boy is complete without dreams.

There were dreams of fame, of love and of high adventure, of course. All boys have them. Yet in my own case there was one particular vision that did not concern me personally or concerned me only as a part of the general human scheme. It was that we are in a new morning of humanity of which those physical mornings were but symbols. There was a better day coming—a new order.

Maybe the dream is coming true. Perhaps there is a new day breaking over the earth. Perhaps there is a new morning for humanity—Edgerton.

MUNSTERBERG SOUNDS ALARM

Germans Are Scared by Peace Centennial Celebration.

ANDREW CARNEGIE REPLIES.

Scotch-American, Who Is Presiding, Says There Is Absolutely No Foundation for Any Inference It Means Discrimination Against Germans.

New York, May 10.—Professor Munsterberg of Harvard, a German citizen, told the American committee arranging for a celebration of 100 years of peace among English speaking peoples that there were many "non-English people" who regard the movement as a forerunner of an alliance between England and the United States antagonistic to Germany. While he regarded such a view as absurd, Professor Munsterberg added, he warned the committee to proceed carefully.

Mr. Carnegie, presiding, was quick to reply to Dr. Munsterberg.

"We are so innocent of the charge," he said, "that we cannot imagine that anybody would suspect us. The American has no preference, I might say. We happen to speak English and the Germans rapidly acquire that habit, I take notice. I suggest that the proposed monuments which are to commemorate the 100 years of peace of the past should also say this:

"'With abiding faith in unbroken peace with all nations for centuries to come.' That will relieve it, professor. I love my own native land as my mother's land and I have loved this republic as my wifeland.

"We have no more patriotic Americans than the German people."

NO CURE DISCOVERED

Tuberculosis Association Takes Hot Shot at Dr. Friedmann.

Washington, May 10.—The first authentic and official report of the federal government's investigation of the Friedmann tuberculosis vaccine made public here declares the results of the public health service's observation so far "do not justify that confidence in the remedy which has been inspired by widespread publicity."

The National Association for the Sturdy and Prevention of Tuberculosis, before which the report was presented, immediately and unanimously adopted a resolution declaring its belief that no "specific cure for tuberculosis has been discovered that deserves the confidence of the medical profession and the public," and declaring it to be the duty of the public to "continue the present well tried remedies."

CORSETS CAUSE OF CANCER

Savant Classifies Tight Lacing With Clay Pipes Among Dangers.

Washington, May 10.—Plans for the formation of a society for the study and prevention of cancer were announced by Frederick L. Hoffman, a director of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, which closed its annual meeting.

Mr. Hoffman said that corsets worn by women, heat on the lips from the stem of a clay pipe, growths caused by tar by those in the pitch industry, the eating of too hot food and of brook trout are among known and probable causes of the disease.

ONE DAY REST BILL IS SIGNED BY FOSS.

Boston, May 10.—One full day of rest each week is assured employees in all industrial and mercantile establishments throughout Massachusetts by a bill signed by Governor Foss. Exceptions are made in the cases of newspaper workers, janitors, bakers, drug clerks and persons caring for fires and machinery.

Farmer Buys Jail for Chicken Coop.

Kingston, Mo., May 10.—Well lighted streets are a better asset than an empty jail, according to the city council of Kingston. The council authorized the sale of the town jail to provide funds for street lights. The jail has not held a prisoner for six months. After spirited bidding the jail was sold to a farmer, who will use the cells for chicken coops.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW OF TRADE

Favorable Crop Outlook Results in Increase of Confidence.

New York, May 10.—Dun's Review says: In spite of some curtailment of orders for merchandise affected by pending tariff changes the unusually favorable crop conditions have resulted in a marked increase of confidence throughout the west and south. The passage of the tariff bill by the house of representatives brings the end of this element of uncertainty measurably nearer. Meanwhile it is a most encouraging fact that reports from fifty-eight cities show a gain in building activity for April of 1 per cent, as compared with the same month in 1912, a heavy decrease at New York city being more than offset by gains elsewhere, particularly at Chicago and at most points in the west and on the Pacific slope.

Production of iron and steel continues close to capacity, but new shares are less insistent and deliveries are made more promptly. In textiles warmer and more settled weather has greatly improved the volume of retail trade, although merchants are still conservative in placing filling-in orders.

CONFESSES HE IS STRATTON

Convict Escaping From Leavenworth Prison Admits Identity.

Peoria, May 10.—Clyde Stratton, the convict who made a sensational escape from the government prison at Leavenworth on March 29 by crawling through a half mile of sewer and who is now under arrest at Pekin, Ill., on a charge of burglary, confessed that he is the man wanted at Leavenworth prison. Stratton further admitted that he was familiar with the details of the robbery of the diamond merchant, J. H. Logue, in Chicago, for which he once was arrested, and that he was an automobile bandit in Chicago for four days.

TARIFF WAR IN SENATE IS ON

Republicans Begin Fight for Public Committee Hearings.

UNDERWOOD BILL IS ASSAILED

Michigan Member Declares the Measure Will Result in Repetition of "Dark Days of Nineties"—Says Beet Sugar Industry Is Menaced.

Washington, May 10.—Republicans of the senate leaped eagerly into their fight against the Underwood bill when it was brought over from the house and precipitated an issue by attempting to override the decision of the Democrats to consider the measure without public hearings.

Forerunning the assault that the Republicans propose to wage on the schedules from agate to zinc, the Republicans propose to have the bill referred to the finance committee with public hearings after Senator Simmons, chairman of the committee, has moved for a conference without instructions.

While this phase was pending, when the senate adjourned until Tuesday, several Republican leaders predicted that they would win their contention and that public hearings would be forced over the heads of the finance committee. Democratic leaders, however, disputed this prediction.

Senator William Alden Smith (Mich.) in a vigorous appeal for consideration of the bill in the open, instead of "in the darkness and gloom" of the committee room, assailed the tariff bill. He declared that it would result in a repetition of "dark days" that followed the Wilson bill, that the sugar industry would be ruined, that other industries would suffer and that already business was falling off rapidly throughout the country.

Charging that free sugar in three years would give the American Sugar Refining company and the Federal Sugar Refiining company an option which they would foreclose on the property of the beet sugar interests, their only domestic rivals, Senator Smith declared that the beet sugar industry, in which 15,000 persons in Michigan alone were interested, would be wiped out.

LEADERS YIELD TO WILSON

Permanent Organization of National Committee Postponed.

Washington, May 10.—The Democratic national committee acquiesced in President Wilson's proposal for a postponement of permanent reorganization pending conferences to consider an increase of the representation of senators on the committee. This decision was reached after a session devoted chiefly to speeches urging the necessity for harmonious action of the Democrats in the next congressional campaign.

The committee adopted a motion of Representative Johnson of Kentucky, the most conspicuous candidate for the chairmanship, that the retiring chairman, Representative Lloyd of Missouri, and retiring secretary, Representative Page of North Carolina, act as the temporary chairman and secretary until the organization is perfected.

Nogales, Ariz., May 10.—Didier Masson, aviator, and Thomas Dean, mechanic, for whom warrants have been issued in connection with the war aeroplane adventure, are in Mexico, wearing uniforms of the constitutionalist army, took quarters at a hotel in Nogales, Sonora. The big flying machine continues to be held by the United States federal authorities, twenty miles south of Tucson, Ariz., where it was captured.

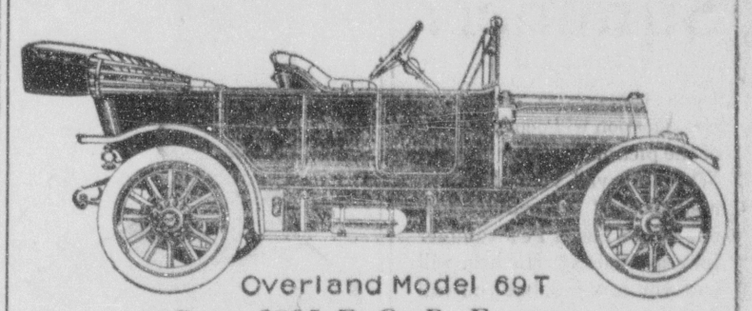
The Car for the Emergency

NOBODY knows better than the medical practitioner how a difference of minutes in the arrival of the physician may often mean just the difference between life and death.



Overland Model 69T
Price $985 F. O. B. Factory

The busy doctor takes to the automobile in the same spirit in which he avails himself of the latest discoveries of medical science.

The automobile-using physician makes the round of his patients in one-third the time necessary for his less up-to-date brother who clings to slow and tedious horse transportation. Or, he can see three times as many patients in the same time.

In either case he increases not only his income, but also his value to the community in which he practices, as well as his opportunities for study and recreation when the stern routine of the physician's calling gives way to relaxation.

No physician who has given the automobile a trial has ever returned to the horse and buggy.

Many physicians use Overlands. Some use other automobiles. But the consensus of opinion of Overland-using doctors is that its sterling reliability makes it the ideal doctor's car, because it is always ready, for work as for play—a blessing to the patient, and a boon to the physician, to whom it certainly is worth more than it costs him.

At least come and take a look at it—take a ride, then ask those who have already bought one. Compare it with others—then draw your own conclusions. That's all we ask.

REFERENDUM IS ATTACKED BY TAFT

Professor Denounces Initiative in Yale Lectures.

New Haven, Conn., May 10.—Former President Taft, Kent professor of law at Yale, in his third lecture on "Some Questions of Modern Government," denounced the initiative and referendum, as "very much like legislation during the French revolution—the work of political cranks and directly contrary to the spirit of the constitution."

He dealt at length with the income tax and advocated a graduated income tax, which would include all incomes of more than $1,000, on the ground that "everybody ought to contribute something, in order that he may feel more responsibility in the government because of his payment."

Professor Taft discussed characteristics of present day men in congress, declaring they pay too much attention to what their constituents want.

WILL DISMISS SUITS

Missouri and Fire Insurance Companies Agree to Truce.

Jefferson City, Mo., May 10.—Judge Thomas Bates of Chicago, attorney for the fire insurance companies which had threatened to withdraw from the state as a result of the recently enacted anti-trust law, will advise the companies to remain in the state, and Attorney General Barker will then dismiss the suits filed against them.

This was the understanding reached after a protracted conference between Judge Bates, Governor Major, Attorney General Barker, Superintendent of Insurance Revelle and former Governor Joseph W. Folk, representing St. Louis business interests.

BROOKLYN TABERNACLE BIBLE STUDY ON THE GIFTS OF WHITSUNTIDE.

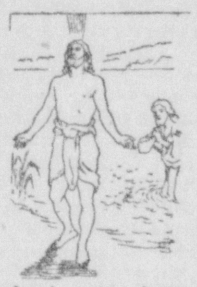
1 Corinthians 12:1-11—May 11.

"There are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit."—Verse 4.

WHITSUNTIDE, or Pentecost, marks a period in God's great Program next in importance to the events connected with our Lord Jesus; namely, His baptism and anointing of the Holy Spirit at Jordan, His finishing His vow of consecration at Calvary, His resurrection and glorious spirit-birth, as partaker of the Divine nature.

When Jesus consecrated His life at Jordan, and symbolized it in His water baptism, God accepted the sacrifice, and bestowed upon Him the Holy Spirit in begetting power. Thenceforth He was the Son of God in two senses—according to the flesh, and according to the Spirit. But in God's order, the spirit-begotten One was to triumph by fully offering up the fleshly one. This work was accomplished at Calvary, where Jesus laid down His life on behalf of the world.



Jesus' water immersion and Spirit-Begetting.

After Jesus' ascension, He appeared in the Father's presence, and made satisfaction for the sins of the Church alone—those who would accept the Father's call to walk in Jesus' footsteps. As for the world, their sins are still upon them. The only way to obtain forgiveness, therefore, is to become a disciple of Jesus.

The Scriptures show us that God has a different time and way for dealing with the world. He will deal with the world through Christ's Millennial Kingdom, scattering their darkness, forgiving their sins and uplifting them to human perfection. Meantime, He deals with the Church only, and it is the Church that the Apostle discusses in today's lesson.

The Church began its existence at Pentecost. Hence Whitsuntide marks an important event in the Church's affairs. Until our Lord's presentation of His merit on their behalf, they were like the remainder of mankind—condemned in Adam. When the Pentecostal blessing came, it manifested the Father's acceptance of Jesus' sacrifice as satisfactory for the sins of the Church—the Household of Faith.

The Gifts of the Spirit.

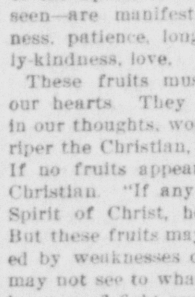
We are to distinguish between the gifts of the Spirit and the fruits of the Spirit. The fruits of the Spirit are developments of heart and character, coming more or less slowly, according to the personality and environment of the spirit-begotten one. These fruits of the Spirit, the Apostle says, can be seen—are manifest—meekness, gentleness, patience, long-suffering, brotherly-kindness, love.

These fruits must be developed in our hearts. They will be manifested in our thoughts, words and deeds. The riper the Christian, the riper the fruits. If no fruits appear, then there is no Christian. "If any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of His." But these fruits may be so overshadowed by weaknesses of the flesh that all may not see to what extent he is fighting a good fight against the world, the flesh and the Devil.

When Pentecost came, the disciples were not prepared to manifest immediately ripe fruitage of the Spirit. Up to this time they were natural men. We see, then, why they could not have a manifestation of the fruits of the Spirit. But it was necessary that they have some indication of God's favor.

God manifested His acceptance of their consecration by the bestowment of certain gifts, which were not fruits of the Spirit in any sense. These gifts were widely distributed in the early Church, and were miraculous. Some spoke languages of which they had no previous knowledge; some had the gift of interpreting these languages; some received the gift of healing; some had power for other miracles.

These gifts served a three-fold purpose: (1) They manifested God's favor, thereby proving that Christ's redemption work had been satisfactory. (2) They proved that God was with the disciples, and this would induce lovers of God to investigate the Gospel. (3) They assured the disciples that God was leading them.



Pentecost Manifested God's Acceptance of Jesus' Sacrifice.

These experiences were necessary. The early Church could not walk by faith as we do. They had no Bibles. They had no instruction, except such as came through these channels. St. Paul explains the matter in today's lesson. Through the operation of these gifts the brethren obtained fellowship and instruction.

God taught them in almost the only possible way in which they could receive instruction, but very differently from that in which He has since instructed His people. Such instruction is no longer necessary, and hence no longer given. We have the Scriptures, divinely provided helps, with which, as St. Paul declares, the man of God may be thoroughly furnished unto every good work. Instead of the gifts, we have the fruits of the Spirit, the chief of which is Love.

Guy Ray went to Hiawatha, Kan., Saturday morning.

WHY SOME TOWNS GROW.

Push and Energy Among Citizens the Great Contributing Force.

In every county in every state can be found towns that are continually forging ahead, while others remain practically at a standstill and accomplish nothing in the way of advancement. In every case the fault can be found to rest, not with the town, but with the people themselves. An exchange has been thinking pretty seriously along this line and presents its conclusions in this way:

"The reason why some towns grow is because they have men in them with push and energy who are not afraid to spend their time, energy and money in anything that will boom and benefit the town. They have confidence enough in their town to erect substantial and modern buildings and residences and work for public improvements in the same order.

"They organize companies and establish factories, induce industrial enterprise to locate and use every means to further the best interests of the town. Their work is never considered finished, and the accomplishment of one thing is only an incentive of another.

"On the other hand, the town that does not get ahead will be found to be dominated by either a set of men who are perfectly satisfied with their surroundings or who are afraid somebody else will be benefited in the event something is started; consequently, no effort of any kind is made by this class, for these two reasons.

"If some men or set of men endeavor to start something they are met by opposition and discouragement and it is uphill work all the way and very often failure.

"Every town, however, has a certain progressive element which hopes for a turn of the tide when the town will go forward by leaps and bounds and occupy a position of importance and obtain numerous advantages which go to make a good town in every sense.

"But this stage cannot be accomplished by mere wishes or suppositions. It can only come from harmony in purpose and action and the eternal vigilance of its citizens.

"The town with these things will continue to grow and improve, but the town without them can be expected to remain in a state of lethargy indefinitely without affording its residents anything but a mere existence.

"It is all true."

SNEAK ALIENS INTO CANADA

Russians Get Into the Dominion Through Private Gateway.

Seattle, May 9.—A private gateway through the Canadian boundary which has been admitting ineligible aliens by the wholesale has been discovered and the gate proprietor and twenty one Russian immigrants are under arrest.

The Russians were taken into custody at Custer, Wash. They told of having crossed the line on a trail near Blaine, and of a guide who charged them only $2 each as pilot fee. The immigrants were ticketed from Russia to Vancouver and thus were able to land at New York and make a continuous journey from the United States to the point on the Canadian border nearest their destination. The heavy stream of immigrants into Vancouver from Russia led to an official investigation.

Graham Flour Is Officially Defined.

Washington, May 9.—Having learned that many so-called "graham flours" on the market contain the sweepings from the mill and that they often contain "red dog," the lowest grade of flour produced, as well as bran and other by-products, the United States bureau of chemistry has defined true graham flour as "unbolted wheat meal, made from sound, fully matured, air-dried wheat." This is the report of an extensive investigation just ended. It is held that the mixtures should be labeled "imitation graham flour."

LIVED ON RAW EGGS

Mr. Richard's Experience With Different Diets. Peaches and Buttermilk for Three Years.

Cecilton, Md.—Mr. George Richards, of this place, during the past 12 years, has probably tried more different diets than the average person would ever use in a lifetime.

What he has to say about his experiments, must therefore be highly interesting to anyone suffering from indigestion or stomach troubles of any kind.

He says: "For more than 12 years, I suffered with stomach troubles, and paid hundreds of dollars for doctor bills and medicines. I was also operated on for piles.

I lived on dried peaches and buttermilk for nearly three years. The only thing that would not give me pain was raw eggs.

I was a physical wreck. I could not sleep, and was as near crazy as a man could well be.

I must say that after taking two 25-cent packages of Thedford's Black-Draught, it did me more good than all I ever spent for other medicines.

I have been working daily on the farm ever since, and I am as hard as iron." This purely vegetable remedy has been in successful use for more than 70 years. Try it. But be sure that it's "Thedford's."
